Dear Students and Families,

Greetings from Princeton University’s Student Accounts Office! We hope you are enjoying your summer, and are looking forward to seeing you in the fall. As we prepare to welcome you to the Class of 2021, we wanted to provide some helpful information about how electronic bills for tuition and fees are issued.

Welcome to TigerPay!
Beginning with the fall term bill, and monthly thereafter as new activity occurs, a notification will automatically be sent to students at their Princeton University email address directing them to TigerPay, Student Account’s online tuition billing and payment service.

Access to TigerPay
To access TigerPay, students log on using their Princeton University NetID and password, no additional username or password is required. Once logged on, they have the ability to view and pay their tuition bill, and authorize TigerPay access for parents and guardians.

Students are required to authorize access to any person who will be viewing or paying a bill in TigerPay. Please note that the Student Accounts staff are unable to grant this access. Students will receive an instructional email from our office detailing how to authorize access. They will need to provide a valid email address for each authorized user, assign a login name, and set permissions. An email with login instructions will then be sent to all authorized users.

We strongly recommend students complete this prior to the August 31st term bill due date.

Once access is granted, authorized users can
- set their preferences including the receipt of text message alerts when bills are issued;
- view activity on the student’s account as charges are applied; and
- view and pay the student bill.

Payment Information
Princeton University accepts both electronic payments and paper checks. We do not accept credit/debit card payments. From the TigerPay site, you can initiate an electronic payment from your checking or savings account to be applied now, or on a designated date. Once entered, banking information can be saved for future payments.

More information about Student Accounts, TigerPay, and how to view and pay student bills is available online on the Student Accounts website, http://www.princeton.edu/studentaccounts. The Student Accounts staff is also available to answer any questions that you or your student may have now, or throughout the year, and can be reached by emailing studacct@princeton.edu, or calling (609) 258-6378.

Sincerely,
